Coronado Register of Historic Resources

The Coronado Register of Historic Resources consists of buildings, structures, objects, and sites that have been historically designated by the Coronado Historic Resource Commission.

Historic designation provides protection for Historic Resources, as they cannot be easily demolished, and must be maintained and preserved. Additionally, there are benefits available to owners of Historic Resources such as the Mills Act property tax reduction, which is available to property owners of Historic Resources in residential zones.

Additional benefits of historic designation include reduced building permit fees, use of the State Historic Building Code, and eligibility to request exceptions to zoning standards in association with new projects.
