THE LOOK OF SILENCE

A film by Joshua Oppenheimer

Join us a for a free screening of the POV Documentary The Look of Silence a film by Joshua Oppenheimer.

The Look of Silence focuses on Adi Rukun, a determined yet mild-mannered optometrist from a family that survived the 1965 genocide in Indonesia. His older brother Ramli was murdered by Indonesian death squads unleashed against opponents of General Suharto, who came to power in 1965 by overthrowing President Sukarno and imprisoning, enslaving or murdering anybody associated with the Indonesian left, as well as the ethnic Chinese. Though initially this bloody dragnet allegedly targeted Communist Party members accused of destabilizing the country, it soon widened to include anyone likely to oppose the new government, including union members, intellectuals and women's-rights activists. Many death squad leaders remain in power today—and some are Adi Rukun's patients.
